AIAU 2020 Project Delivery Symposium: Delivering the Future March 10 Webinar | 8am (EST)

As the demand for improved project outcomes continues to drive the design and construction industry, there is increasing pressure transforming the traditional roles and relationships among owners, architects, and builders. This symposium will concentrate on project delivery strategies and their critical place at the nexus of these transformational forces. The goal is to broaden the conversation among owners, architects, engineers, constructors, and all parties to the building industry.

For the first time, this event (March 10 only) will be live streamed and recorded through the AIAU platform. Attend the Symposium in person or through live streaming. Learn More»

AIA Bend Tour of the Unitarian Universalist Church of Central Oregon

Mar 19 | 4-5pm | 61980 Skyline Ranch Road Bend, OR 97703
CEU Pending

Designed by Hacker (then THA), and dedicated in April of 2015, the Church building was designed to be respectful of the land with a strong connection to nature, full of natural light and fresh air. There was a strong desire for it to be a green, sustainable, energy-efficient, low maintenance building—a model for the community; a building that allows for flexibility and growth and is universally accessible. Open House March 6 / 3-7pm / 433 W 10th Ave.

From a one-man shop in 2003, our firm has evolved to a full team providing architectural services for commercial, institutional, multi-family, and custom residential projects. Our new name - Aligned Architecture - captures who we are, and expresses the principle that guides us in developing designs that align with our clients' vision, with the project's context, and toward a sustainable future.

Join us 3/6, 3-7pm for food, drink, and celebration of our new name! If you plan on attending, please send a one-line email with an estimated number of guests to rsvp@alignedarchitecture.com

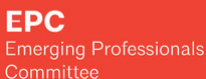

AIA Eugene CoLA Meeting

March 9 | 5:30pm | Eugene Octagon, 92 E Broadway

On February 4th, the Eugene community received a progress update on the Town Square and explored ways that Eugene's rich and diverse culture can be celebrated around the most central public space. Included were drawings for the Farmers Market and four different massing concept options for the City Hall.

Will Dowdy, Urban Planner for the City of Eugene, will be joining the CoLA group at our next meeting to discuss ways to engage our membership on this benchmark project within our downtown.

AIA Eugene Small Firms Exchange

March 13 | 5:00-7:30pm | 440 Charnelton, Second Floor Conference Room

Host: Stan Honn, AIA, Honn Design & Construction

Topic: Do you ORPIN? a small firm, the public process, and finding a strategy.

Embracing our AIA Oregon quarterly topic 'Policy & Advocacy,' this meeting will introduce resources for finding public projects from the perspective of three small firms. This will include an introduction to the terms ORPIN, RFP, RFQ, ESB and QBS and a brief discussion how they relate to the public selection process. We will share our own experiences in the pursuit of public projects and (perhaps) how it has improved our practice. Our intent is to discuss the process, some issues, and hopefully take away what other strategies small firms can take for public projects within the State of Oregon. Learn More»
