Does Your Firm Have a Student Internship Program?

We would love to hear from you!

AIA Oregon is working closely with Oregon Department of Education on developing standards for introducing architecture to students at a high school and middle school level. We know some of you offer some sort of job shadow or internship program and want to hear from you. AIA Oregon will gather information on the various programs and work with a task force of interested members to develop a proposed job shadow or internship program for ODE to review and comment on with the intent to include in their curriculum development for 2021-2022 and beyond.

If you are interested or have a program in place you would be willing to share, please contact Heather Wilson.

"Smart Design: What architects need to know about Smart Pumping Systems"

Presenter: Nicole Dunbar, product manager at the Northwest Energy Efficiency Alliance (NEEA).

Smart design in plumbing and mechanical systems is key to reduced energy use - this presentation will give architects the language they need to discuss pumps and smart pumping strategies with mechanical and plumbing partners.

After this presentation, attendees will understand how to identify efficient pumps and what benefits smart pumping systems can provide to buildings. Participants will be able to speak to engineering partners about an overall approach to sustainable pumping systems and confidently speak to building owners about the value of smart pumps.
